

REISLING BOUGHT FROM YORK CLUB

Veteran Pitcher Is Now Real Member of Nationals.

The first purchase of a ball player since the announcement that Joe Cantillon would be succeeded by Jimmy McAleer was made this morning, when President Noyes closed a deal whereby "Doc" Reisling becomes a full-fledged National.

When Reisling first came here he was on trial, but so favorable an impression was made that it was decided to purchase his release, the check having been sent to Kissor, five manager of the York club, this morning.

Reisling will be given a thorough try-out, and should he fail to make good will be sent on the trail as a scout, as he has had long experience and has the reputation of being a good judge of young ball players.

The Nationals close with the Athletics at Philadelphia today.

Fear not for little is likely to come of all this bold talk about what certain factions intend to do with Ban Johnson for having requested the Washington club owners not to again sign Joe Cantillon.

Each season there is that usual howl and threat against the president of the league, but each spring he blossoms forth as the biggest feature in baseball. Joe Cantillon last year made a secret of his supposed hatred for Johnson, but it will be remembered that Big Ban spent part of last winter as Joe's guest at Hickman, Ky.

Certain of the magnates of the league have given out interviews every now and then against Johnson, but it will be remembered that these same parties met, and after unanimously approving of the course of Johnson raised his salary and elected him for ten years.

Ban Johnson's intermittent squeals there is nothing to indicate that Ban Johnson does not hold the American League in the palm of his hand, and without attempting to question his right to the title, it is a fact that he is the champion of champions in putting through his own ideas.

William H. Fowler, business manager of the Washington club, was yesterday the recipient of a handsome job from the attaches of National Park.

The pendant is of gold embossed with crossed bats and a ball over which is a diamond with a laurel wreath.

GET TRAINING TABLE.

Following closely upon the announcement from Georgetown that the university authorities have re-enacted the rule prohibiting a training table, comes an announcement from Gallaudet that in the future the Kendall Green athletes are to receive special courses in the college combats.

It is understood that not only will the football players be favored by a special diet, but the same rules will obtain in case of candidates for the field and track team.

SEASON ON GRIDIRON OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

Georgetown's Team Has George Washington, With Gallaudet as First Opponent of Year. Encouraging Outlook, Faces Eastern College.

Georgetown inaugurates her campaign on the gridiron this afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Gallaudet as an opponent.

Four years ago Georgetown had the grandest eleven in her history, and at last seemed destined to gain a position in football equal to her standing on track and diamond, but before the following fall the faculty passed such stringent rules of eligibility and discipline that practically every athlete was disqualified.

But this fall conditions have improved, until the outlook is really most encouraging. In this change of spirit the faculty is showing no inclination to let down the barriers on eligibility—as was shown in the dropping of Captain-elect Lowrey—but the attitude is more reasonable and encouraging.

The squad received a distinct jar yesterday when it was learned that Joe McNulty, the clever halfback and logical successor to Lowrey as captain, will be kept out of uniform all season on account of parental objection.

Reports from Kendall Green indicate that Gallaudet will go to Georgetown Field today in better shape than last fall.

The probable line-up:
Georgetown. Positions. Gallaudet, Captain. L. E. Howler.
Denton, L. T. Gardner.
Dalley, L. G. Bell.
Feenan, Center. Talbert.
Pitzgerald, R. G. Cadwell.
Wymad, R. T. Jackson.
Carter, R. E. Rockwell.
Byrd, Q. B. Maxson.
Carlin, R. H. Mosey.
Smith, L. B. Bailey.
Waldron, F. B. Black.

MATCH CANOE RACE.

A. F. Lucas, of the Potomac Boat Club, and Reginald Rutherford, of the Annapolis Boat Club, will meet this afternoon in the deciding single canoe race of the Potomac. In addition to the match race there will be other contests in doubles, fours and tilting. This regatta will close the local aquatic season.

Determined to maintain the high standard set last fall George Washington opens the football season this afternoon at National Park, with Eastern College as an opponent.

Up to last season the Hatchettes were hardly ever considered real contenders for the championship of this section, but Captain Sommers' team came forward with such an unexpected and sudden rush that the university gained a position that was undeniable. The team was heavy but fast, and when driven to the height of its game, as it was against Washington and Lee, had a style of offense most impressive.

This year Coach Doumarly had taken up where Coach Nelson left off, and, just now, the prospects are far brighter than they were this time last year as there is a good nucleus available and a string of newcomers who will compel the veteran players to exert themselves to the utmost to maintain their positions.

Another advantage the Hatchettes will have today is that they have been practicing longer than any other team in these parts. For the last three weeks Captain Alston's men have been going through light work in Potomac Park so the whole team should be in excellent physical shape when it takes the field for its first test.

Eastern College was comparatively easy prey for George Washington last October, but this fall the visitors claim to have a much improved team and they hope to hold the locals to a small score.

NAVY IS ACTIVE.

The Navy is putting all its efforts into its attack this year. Last fall the sailors, thing happened, but it was overcome, with the result that the middies were stale when they met the Army team.

JENNINGS NAMES DETROIT TO WIN

At Last Manager Shows Where He Believes Advantage Lie.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Hughie Jennings crawled out of a snug warm berth in a Boston to Detroit sleeper early today, and standing in the cold dark station yard with clanging engines all around, told what he believed would happen when the Pirates and Tigers clashed.

"It will be the best team in the American League against the best team in the National League," said Hughie, "and the team that plays the best ball will win. They have great batters, so have we. They have good pitchers, so have we. They are not strong in base running, but we are. There's where we will have some advantage. Honestly, I think our chances to win are a shade better than theirs. There is no possible comparison between the Tiger team of today, and the Tiger team that played Chicago last fall and two years ago.

Our infield is fully 30 per cent stronger. I don't expect Tompkins to play any better ball than Rossman did in the world's series, but I do expect effective work from Delestanty and Moriarty. I will use Mullin, Donovan, and Summers against the Pirates, but not Killian, as they have a liking for left-handers over right-handers. Schmidt will do all the catching. We have learned a lot this year, and while he is not probably a Gibson, he is a rattling good catcher. Cobb and Crawford are playing better ball right now than they ever did before, and so is Davy Jones. I don't think that this will suffer anything on comparison with Wilson, Leach, and Clarke. I am going to call all the Detroit players together tomorrow, and say to them that they have simply got to win the world's championship.

If I did not do that last year or the season before, because the fight in our own league was not over until the last day of the season, and it did not seem right to ask any more of them.

"They have responded to such demands of mine before, and they will again. The rest they will get before the world series begins will put them right on edge for the battle. The Athletics played themselves out in the last series against us. They were not quite the same aggressive players after that. We lost three of the games, but these defeats only served to brace us up for the fights that followed.

COACH GLENDON ON HAND.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2.—Richard Glendon, of the Boston Athletic Association and coach of the Naval Academy, having crews for the last several years, has arrived in Annapolis to begin the fall practice with the recruits among the new fourth class of midshipmen. The candidates will report at the boat-house this afternoon.

MORSELL REPORTS AT CENTRAL HIGH

Morsell, who played center on the Central High School football team last fall, reached this city from Alaska yesterday, and will probably join the squad Monday.

The presence of Morsell is expected to improve the practice as Central is now laboring under the handicap of a dearth of experienced players. Not a single regular from last season has been available thus far, and the indications are that practically the whole team will be composed of last season's scrubs and new members.

CORNELL WORK UNIQUE.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Getting their team ready for the opening game with the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy tomorrow, the Cornell football coaches piled up big sacks of meal on the field this afternoon, and for fifteen minutes had the forwards driving into them head on. Coach Dan Reed personally superintended this drill, and each man was compelled to jump into the meal after a long drive. The coaches said this would toughen them up for football.

BILLIARD PLAYERS TO REVIVE SPORT

Owners of Rooms Expect to Have More Power in Future.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Billiard room keepers formed the nucleus of a national association at the Waldorf-Astoria last night. Professionals, amateurs, and the managers of rooms in this city and in other sections of the country met at an informal dinner for this purpose.

There was a unanimity of opinion that only by organization could the owners of rooms and the players enjoy the game and witness the cue performances of the masters and work for the development of the game.

George Dolson, of the Crescent Athletic Club, presided as toastmaster, and at the beginning of the speeches it was made known that the roomkeepers had decided to hold a world's championship tournament at 182 Park Ave. in the coming year. Prize money to the amount of $10,000 is already assured, the largest amount for the billiard championship in this country since 1854.

Already William Hoppe, Calvin Demarest, Albert G. Catler, George F. Stinson, George Sutton, and possibly other French players of note will compete, so that two weeks will be devoted to the matches.

The committee appointed for the formulation of the regulations under which the association will be incorporated was Maurice Daly, New York; Albert G. Cutler, Boston; John Doyle, New York; John J. McGraw, New York; Nat Ward, Brooklyn; Frank Keeney, Brooklyn; George F. Stinson, New York; Sol Allinger, Philadelphia; Tim Flynn, New York; A. B. Howland, New York, and Albert Bergmann, New York.

There were many letters read from the Western roomkeepers favoring the association and promising support.

HARVARD DETERMINED.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2.—Harvard will line up against Bowdoin this afternoon with some misgivings, as last year the Maine boys gave the Crimson a sharp fight, and threatened the varsity goal repeatedly. Harvard winning by only a single touchdown. Preparatory to the game Haughton had only light signal drill yesterday afternoon. The probable line-up follows: Houston, left end; McKay, left tackle; West, left guard; Withington, center; Fisher, right guard; Fish, right tackle; G. Browne, right end; O'Flaherty, quarterback; Corbett, left halfback; Leslie, right halfback, and P. Smith, fullback.

INDIAN STAR HELPS.

Frank Cayou, one of Carlisle's old stars, has been helping Glenn Warner this fall with his many green candidates. Cayou is the regular coach of the Washington University team in St. Louis.

MUNSEY RUN

Also Marks the Pre-eminence of Diamond Tires

In the Munsey Run Diamond Tires equipped more cars than any other three makes combined—124 sets of Diamond tires against 5 sets of the second highest make. Ten well-known makes were represented. No Diamond tires were furnished without charge.

Eighteen cars finished the run. Diamond tires equipped 8 of them—more than any other three makes combined. Not one car entered with Diamond equipment was seriously delayed or lost either points or place on account of tire troubles.

With a general average of very bad roads Diamond tires still showed a very low mileage cost, their superior record in this respect being in fact a notable feature of the run. It practically duplicated the Pathfinding trip for the Munsey Run, when the route was marked on Diamond tires, one puncture being the total tire trouble in the 1,300 miles.

CONFIRMING the Diamond victory in the Glidden Tour—average tire cost per car on Diamond tires, $26.84; on other makes, $38.16.

CONFIRMING the Minnesota "Little Glidden" Tour, also a Diamond victory on tire cost and first and second prizes won on Diamond.

CONFIRMING National Upkeep Competition, also a Diamond victory. First prize and the majority of all prizes won on Diamond tires.

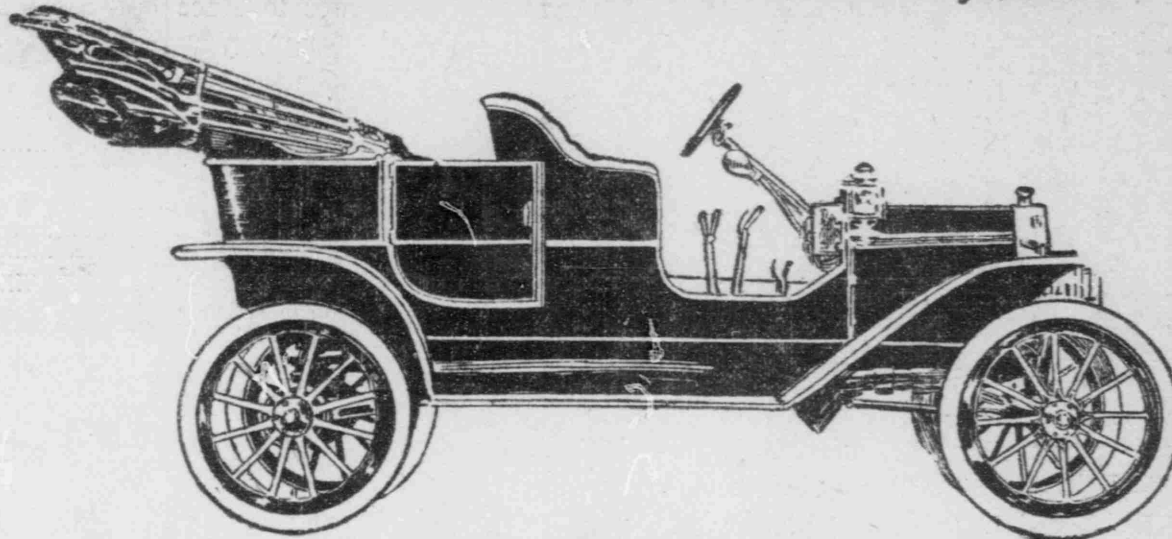

CONFIRMING tire results in thousands of public and private tours which one and all have shown over and over again—Diamond tires are the best—the best casings, the best tubes.
